Problem Background: Professional wrestling is a form of entertainment enjoyed by millions of fans across the world, ranging from the major promotions in the biggest markets such as the US, Mexico and Japan, to the smaller, independent wrestling promotions where many wrestlers first get their start. Puerto Rico is no exception to this, with several wrestling promotions all competing for the attention of the fans week after week. Unlike their more well known counterparts however, Puerto Rican wrestling promotions have struggled to capture the eye of the international market, and this is in part due to a lack of a platform in which one could access the different events taking part on the island and find information about them. There are several databases filled with information about larger promotions that allows people to easily find events and matches worth watching that help people get into these promotions and become fans, but no such platform exists for Puerto Rican wrestling.

Target: It is planned that by the end of the year we will develop a program which allows people to look up matches in the Puerto Rican wrestling scene sorted by promotion, event, date, wrestlers involved, etc. It will also allow people to rate these matches and sort them using said ratings. People who have moderator status will be able to actually add matches to the program.

Causes:

- Puerto Rican wrestling is a mostly unknown scene to the general wrestling fanbase, as such there haven't been any concentrated efforts to chronicle it for an international audience.

Countermeasures:

- Allow users to search for different matches, events and wrestlers in the Puerto Rican wrestling scene
- Allow users to rate the matches and sort them by these ratings for ease of finding matches worth seeking out
- Allow users who are given admin status to add matches, events and wrestlers to the program

Check/Evaluate: The project's success will be determined by a sizeable amount of wrestling fans adopting the program, as well as an increased level of attention in the Puerto Rican wrestling scene, both locally and internationally.

Act/Standardize: The continued success of the project will be maintained by a steadily growing user based adopting the program to chronicle matches and events. Success will also be maintained with constant user feedback on how useful or not the different features of the program are and what can be done to improve these existing features, as well as adding features demanded by large portions of the user base.
